Abstract of the Disclosure

A method of preparing for hunting comprises applying a quantity of a toothpaste to the hunter's teeth, the toothpaste formulated to contain no added scents or odors. The formulation provides hunters with the ability to practice their normal tooth brushing routine, but without adding a scent, which if detected by the prey animal, could compromise the hunter's objective of being scent free to avoid detection by the prey while hunting. An 6 embodiment comprises a mixture of calcium carbonate, a polyol; water; sodium bicarbonate; 8 . sodium lauryl sulfate; titanium dioxide; guar gum, and sodium saccharin.

9 10

1

2

3 4

5

7

HOAG\0702\TPPatAp.703